COEXPAN and EMSUR will present their latest developments in rigid and flexible packaging at Latinpack, Chile.

The two Grupo Lantero divisions will be showcasing their extensive portfolio of packaging solutions for the food, beverages and home & personal care markets on the 7th and 8th of June.

Monday, 28th May 2018.

The first edition of Chile's Latinpack Show, a meeting point for key players in the packaging industry, will welcome Grupo Lantero's two divisions specialized in rigid and flexible packaging for the food industry. This event that aims to be a benchmark in the Latin American packaging market will focus this year on issues such as sustainability, innovation and digitization in the industry.

EMSUR, the flexible packaging division with four plants in America, will be represented at Latinpack by our plant EMSUR ARGENTINA, the country's leading packaging manufacturer for dairy products. Over the two-day event EMSUR will be presenting its flexible packaging solutions for dairy, snacks and confectionery and home & personal care markets. Our company's expertise lies in sleeves, multi-layer sheets with medium to high barrier protection, as well as a wide variety of printing finishes and the much-demanded OPS wrap-around banderoles in compliance with our commitment to sustainability.

COEXPAN, which has two plants in Chile, will be presenting its latest developments in rigid sheets and thermoformed products for fresh foods such as meat, fish, fruit and vegetables, and for ready meals and dairy products, among others. A wide-ranging portfolio of products that offers increasingly efficient and sustainable personalized packaging solutions with medium and high barrier structures that guarantee optimal preservation of foodstuffs for a longer time.

COEXPAN and EMSUR will be at Latinpack Chile at Stand C1.
